Olivia helps England to boxing bronze in Euro Under 22 Championships

A TEENAGER from Up Holland is making a name for herself in the boxing world.

Olivia Holmes, 19, who boxes for Rotunda ABC in Liverpool, has picked up a bronze medal for the GB and England team at the Under 22 European Boxing Championships in Croatia.

She is already a seven times national champion at boxing, and she won the Elite Senior ABAs held in London.

In the quarter finals at the European Championships, she beat a girl from France by a unanimous decision.

Then she was pitted against the number one seed from Ireland in the semi-final which she lost on a split decision. She said: "I am working up to the Commonwealth Games in Birmingham this August. I'd like to go to the Olympics."

"I train twice a day Monday to Saturday. I practice boxing, do gym work, go running and work on my strength conditioning."

Olivia was at Birch Green ABC, in Skelmersdale from the ages of 9 to 10 and then moved to Rotunda ABC.

Olivia is at West Lancashire College studying for a sports diploma.

Her dad Gary said: "She is unbelievable and has been so committed for 10 years."

"She has grown and flourished to a very high level now. I am very proud of her."

Campaigners celebrate 'landmark victory for people with disabilities'

Report by Henry James

TWO brothers, one who has Asperger's syndrome, who faced eviction from their family home in Alma Hill, Up Holland have now been told they can stay where they are by West Lancashire Borough Council following a successful campaign.

Last year, Sean Brogan and his brother Andrew, who has Asperger's, had been issued a 'notice to quit' by West Lancashire Council after their mum, who was the named tenant on the property, died on November 14 2021.

Anthony and Jacqueline, Sean and Andrew's parents, had been joint tenants on the property.

The family lost their father due to Covid-19 at the start of the pandemic, and nearly lost their mother.

Their mum died at the end of last year from a massive heart attack. During his mum's illness, Sean had moved into the home to help his mum and his brother Andrew.

Within weeks of the passing of their mother,

West Lancashire Borough Council issued the brothers with a 'notice to quit' on Boxing Day.

The council officers argued that succession of tenancy could only apply once and could not be applied from the mum to the two boys.

However, because of Andrew's condition, the family has said the only place he can live is within the family home because of its familiarity and safety.

The family appealed and launched an online petition against the 'notice to quit' and their story was carried in the Champion and national papers.

Veteran Trade Union and Community campaigner Alec McFadden was recruited to coordinate the campaign in February and said: "So the whole issue of disability was ignored by the local council."

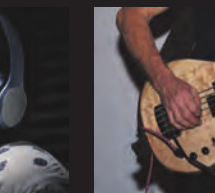

"The two lads were living in daily terror of being evicted from the home they had lived in from birth and being uprooted and pushed

Vast majority of pupils get places at their first choice primary school

Report by Henry James

THE vast majority of primary pupils in Lancashire will be going to their first preference school this September.

Figures published for primary school admissions show that 92.5 per cent of pupils in Lancashire have secured a place in their first preference school for 2022/23.

In addition, 4.94 per cent of pupils have received a place at their second preference school, while 1.25 per cent will attend their third preference school.

Only 1.31 per cent of people who applied have been allocated a place in a suitable school outside of their top three.

Edwina Grant OBE, Lancashire County Council's executive director for education and children's services, said: "Our admissions team strive all year to ensure as many young people as possible are able to attend their preferred school."

"It brings us great pleasure to see that once again

we have been able to match the vast majority of young people in Lancashire with their first preference primary school for 2022/23.

"While school places are allocated fairly and objectively, we understand that this can be emotive process, especially if you do not secure a place at your preferred school."

"Please remember that you can appeal the decision, and we do expect to see some change to the allocation of school places between now and September."

Parents will receive details about who to contact for advice and information on school admissions and appeals in the offer letter or email they receive.

Appeals are heard locally and those for Lancashire primary schools will take place during the summer term.

From Monday to Friday, from 8am to 5pm, parents can also call 0300 123 6707.

Firefighters tackle blaze at commercial property

THREE fire engines attended a fire at a outbuilding at a commercial property on Long Lane, Aughton on Wednesday, April 20 at 5.54pm. Firefighters used two main water jets, one hose reel jet, one thermal imaging camera, one partner saw, two breathing apparatus and a triple extension ladder to extinguish the fire.

Fire fighters were at the scene for around two hours.

Outpouring of support from indie rock bands to help teen with rare neurological condition

'A rock birthday party would be so special for Alfie'

Report by Henry James

A TEENAGER from Burscough has received an outpouring of support online from indie rock bands after the charity Make-A-Wish UK appealed for help in granting his wish for an 'indie rock party.'

Alfie Lund, 14, was one of the first children in the UK to be diagnosed with a rare neurological condition known as MECP2 duplication syndrome.

Alfie's mum Rachel said: "Alfie's birthday is in January but, because his condition makes him very susceptible to chest infections in winter, he's never had a proper birthday party."

"To have a big party with indie rock music, surrounded by people he loves, would mean the world to Alfie and make up for all the birthday parties he's missed."

Alfie has missed out on much of the joy of childhood, having been diagnosed with his condition at the age of four.

At the time he was only the seventh child in the UK to have ever been diagnosed with the condition, which is thought to affect fewer than 40 children across the country.

Rachel said: "It's a rare, genetic, progressive neurological condition. It affects him in every way."

"He can't walk or talk, he has multiple complex seizures, and he's been hospitalised more times than I can remember.

Alfie Lund

"Music is one of the most important things in Alfie's life – he's quite the indie rocker and likes bands like Arctic Monkeys and Oasis. It makes him move about and get excited."

The Make-A-Wish UK charity hopes to grant Alfie's wish as soon as possible, and this week put out an appeal for indie rock bands to play at the party.

Stephanie Witt, director of income and engagement at Make-A-Wish UK, said: "We've been incredibly moved by the support of musicians, bands and music-lovers since sharing Alfie's wish online.

"Our initial tweet has been seen over 74,000 times, with offers from Matilda Shakes, Skylights, The Kairos and many more to help make Alfie's wish come true."

"However, Alfie is just one of 54 children across the North West who are currently waiting for their wish. With each wish costing around £2500, we urgently need to raise £135,000 to grant wishes in the North West alone. Critically ill children and their families have waited long enough."

Alfie's family are appealing for public support.

"His wish will be an amazing experience, which he really deserves after all he's been through," said Rachel. "Whenever I'm struggling, I look at Alfie and think - 'well, if he can get on with it and smile, then so can I.'"

To donate to Make-A-Wish UK and help grant a wish for children like Alfie, in the North West and beyond, visit www.make-a-wish.org.uk/north-west today.

Film starring local actor to be shown at Pinewood Studios

A FEATURE film that stars an Ormskirk actor is set to be showcased at one of the world's most iconic movie studios.

Enemy of the Heart, which was shot in Crosby, was selected from nominees around the world to be screened at the prestigious Pinewood Studios near London.

During its 85-year history, the UK-based studio has become synonymous with some of the world's most enduring productions, hosting Hollywood's finest to shoot scenes for Star Wars, Superman, The Hobbit, James Bond and Killing Eve.

Enemy of the Heart qualified for the cinema showcase having competed with 25 countries to win the Jury Prize for Best Feature Film at the Global Lift Off Film Festival earlier this month.

The award marks the film's 40th accolade having swept the board in festivals across Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Cannes, Toronto, Rome and London.

The all-star cast includes Ormskirk's Joseph Stanley, Crosby-based creator Claryn Scott, Italian actor Mattia Paradiso, Jack O'Connor, Julia Ross, Lucy Wareing from Maghull and Crosby-based Michael Dolan.

The accolades include Best Actress for Claryn and Lucy, Best Child Actor for Jack, plus Best Actor Honourable Mention for Joseph.

Speaking about their 40th award, Claryn said: "As soon as production began, we knew we had something special. The cast and crew instantly clicked and it felt like we'd known each other for years. At the very least, we had an amazing time bringing this aspect of history to life."

Inspired by true events, the story follows the life of an Anglo-Italian family living in Britain during the outbreak of war. Those aged 16 to 70 of German, Italian and Austrian heritage, were interned on the orders of Prime Minister, Winston Churchill when Germany and Italy joined the war against Britain.

Hundreds of internees were sent aboard the S.S. Arandora Star, destined for Canada. Just two days following its departure from Liverpool, the ship was torpedoed by a German U-Boat in July, 1940 with the loss of eight hundred lives.

A memorial of the tragedy stands at Liverpool's Pier Head.

Claryn added: "We could never have envisaged the success the film would receive worldwide and we're always blown away by the support and feedback. It's been an incredible year and we're ecstatic to be selected for Pinewood. That really is something special."

Brothers can stay in their own home after campaign win into a second floor social housing cramped flat which did not allow family pets.

"This would have meant Andrew's Husky dog would have to have been put down or put into a 'dog shelter.'

"This would have not only been bad for the dog but also for Andrew's physical and mental health.

"Everyday Andrew walked his dog in an area he knew and felt safe in and this was his time for walking and exercising.

"More than 2,500 signed the petition for the brothers to be allowed to stay.

"Campaign t-shirts were printed, and the campaign spread across Skelmersdale, and the North West.

"Sean Brogan who carried the weight of the difficult four months of eviction threats appealed against the council's 'final decision'.

"Both Sean and I were told by council officers, 'the decision has been made! You have no right to appeal.'

"But appeal we did and last week the senior council officer agreed that the Brogan Brothers do have succession rights because the council has now decided to apply discretion.

"Disability discrimination, common sense and the power of the local community has lead to this landmark victory.

"And it is not only in Skelmersdale and West Lancashire, but thanks to the campaign members, this victory will be used for people with disabilities in similar circumstances across the UK."

Sean said: "Thanks to Alec and the whole campaign team and community we can again sleep soundly in our beds at night without the mental terror of eviction hanging over us and my brother Andrew can walk his dog in peace. "We love the campaign t-shirts and we will wear them with pride."

A spokesperson for West Lancashire Borough Council said: "Our Tenancy Services team have been working closely with Mr Brogan and his family for some time to find a solution to his housing situation.

"We have reviewed the decision and are in contact with the family."

Could 'rubber roads' soon be rolled out across West Lancs?

New technique to resurface streets with recycled car tyres is hailed a success

Report by Henry James

A NEW technique using recycled car tyres to resurface roads has been used in Lancashire for the first time - and highway chiefs are now hoping to roll it out across other parts of the county.

Lancashire County Council has been trialling an innovative asphalt mix using granulated rubber created by Tarmac and has recently resurfaced a road in Padiham.

Rubber modified asphalts incorporate recycled tyres combined with warm mix asphalt technology and are prepared at a lower temperature than traditional asphalts.

The addition of the ground tyre rubber means that less fossil fuel derived bitumen is used, as well as less energy due to the lower temperatures required.

It delivers the same performance and surface characteristics as traditional materials but it is more environmentally friendly.

Phil Durnell, director of highways and transport at Lancashire County Council said: "I was really pleased to come onsite and see the material being used for the first time on a Lancashire highway."

"I was quite surprised how much rubber is in the mix, it's around one car tyre per tonne so on that basis we put end of life 150 tyres in the road in just one day."

"The lower layers of the carriageway here have also been recycled using a cold foam mix process."

Workers use an innovative asphalt mix using granulated rubber to resurface Abingdon Road, Padiham

This is essentially a circular process where the material is removed from the site to be directly recycled into the new material, with the recycled content typically being 95%.

"Overall, by using recycled materials in the lower layers and rubber modified asphalt surfacing, we have lowered the carbon footprint of this scheme by over 30%."

"We are really keen to reduce our carbon footprint in maintaining Lancashire's roads and we are hoping to use this technique as part of our Highways Decarbonisation Strategy. This year in our carriageway capital programmes, we are predicted to save 332 tonnes of CO2 through using lower carbon processes."

Housing firm set to build 169 homes after expansion plans are given green light

Redrow gets permission from council to construct even more houses at Burscough development

Report by Henry James

BOSSSES at housebuilder Redrow have been given permission to expand their existing development in Burscough.

The housing firm has extended its development plans at 'The Grange at Yew Tree Park' after receiving recent planning consent from West Lancashire Borough Council.

Of the 169 homes to be built, 59 will be designated affordable.

These 59 homes will include 18 one-bed apartments, six two-bed apartments, 19 two-bed houses and 16 three-bed houses.

There will be 21 homes under shared ownership tenure and 38 under affordable rent.

The extension plans will function as an extension of The Grange, which is currently under construction.

Karl Longworth, land director for Redrow Lancashire said: "We are pleased to be extending our plans at Yew Tree Park having received planning consent."

Homes already built at The Grange

"The Grange is one of our most popular developments, so we know these new properties will be a welcome addition."

Redrow bosses claim that 'open green space, new wildlife habitats, local walks and scenic views are at the forefront of plans for this development.'

Karl added: "Our nature for people strategy ensures that we provide wildlife-rich areas within our developments for residents to spend time in. We listened to our customers, who said that being close to green spaces is a big priority - and this new development will provide that and so much more."

As part of the planning agreement, Redrow will be making contributions to community infrastructure of more than £2million.

Work on the new development is due to begin in the summer this year with plans for homes to go on the market in spring/summer 2023.

Health experts give advice ahead of Bank Holiday weekend

HEALTHCARE leaders have shared advice so residents can get the help they need in West Lancashire during the May Day Bank Holiday weekend, should they become unwell.

People who need urgent NHS care, but it is not a 999 emergency, are advised to contact NHS 111 which is staffed by trained professionals and clinicians who will direct people to the most appropriate health service.

Dr Peter Gregory, local GP and chair of NHS West Lancashire Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) said: "Although there are changes to some healthcare services over the bank holiday weekend, if you're feeling unwell, there is plenty of help and advice available from NHS 111."

"We would advise you to 'think 111 first' and contact the team either by visiting 111.nhs.uk online to answer some questions about your condition, or by calling freephone 111 over the phone."

Opening times for services such as pharmacies, walk in centres and GP practices may change over the bank holiday, so residents are advised to plan ahead to make sure they know where to go for help.

Healthcare leaders are also urging residents to make sure they have enough supply of any medications they need by ordering their repeat prescriptions early and getting their medicine cabinets stocked up with essentials.

Dr Gregory continued: "If you do rely on medication for long-term conditions, don't leave it too late to order your repeat prescriptions before the weekend. Pharmacies may change their opening hours over the bank holiday weekend so it's best to be prepared."

"Pharmacists are also there for you for help with common ailments should you need them. They are highly qualified health professionals who can give free, confidential advice and help you to get the right medications for everyday illnesses."

Ormskirk Ukulele Club busking for Ukraine

Ukulele group takes over town centre!

THE area around the Clock Tower in Ormskirk town centre was transformed into a sea of blue and yellow as Ormskirk Ukulele Club joined in unity with the townsfolk to show the support for Ukraine.

The event was held in the afternoon of Saturday, April 9 and saw hundreds of people enjoy the music.

'Ukes for Ukraine' entertained shoppers for two hours by playing a host of sing-a-long songs to enjoy, while at the same time giving a donation to help the people of this war torn country.

Embracing the Ukraine colours of blue and yellow, Ormskirk Ukulele Club played and sang their hearts out and even though all kinds of weather conditions prevailed the show went on.

Enjoyment from onlookers, both young and old, was quite evident, as they danced and clapped to the beat of the ukes.

A total of £1,250 was collected on the day and this, along with donations that arrived in the following few days, was sent to Unicef to be forwarded to various bodies in Ukraine.

Unicef is trying to scale up life-saving support for children and their families in Ukraine.

More cash for educational school trips

By Henry James

A LANCASHIRE careers service has launched a new fund to support schools with transport costs for young people in West Lancashire going on educational visits.

Future U, which works across Lancashire to encourage more people to consider higher education, has launched its Progression Travel Fund to help with costs to cover young people travelling for visits to universities, colleges and apprenticeship providers.

The fund is expected to help more people take part in activities aimed at progressing their career aspirations by removing the financial barrier that can stop some young people going on these types of trips. It is payable to secondary schools, sixth forms and colleges, with each application assessed on a case-by-case basis.

As well as supporting transport costs, Future U is also sessions to support learners' experience and knowledge of the trip to include workshops on employability skills, finance and university life.

Theo Blackburn, Future U programme manager, said: "We know that finances can be a significant barrier to schools, students and families. By removing this we hope to increase the number of young people exploring different progression routes - which could be college, university or degree apprenticeships."

Second birthday for toddler with a 'broken heart'

Gabriela is the 'happiest girl' despite shock diagnosis with 'almost no chance of survival'

By Henry James

A SKELMERSDALE couple who were told during pregnancy that their daughter had 'almost no chance of survival' because of a heart defect are looking forward to celebrating her second birthday in July.

Evita Kalva-Bolmane and Zigmunds Bolminis, known as Ziggy, were told their unborn baby had Hypoplastic left heart syndrome (HLHS) and were offered the choice of a termination, but carried on to have Gabriela - and want to raise awareness of Congenital Heart Defects (CHD).

Evita said: "We found out about Gabriela's broken heart at 24 weeks of pregnancy and were given almost no hope our precious baby would survive. HLHS is the most critical heart defect, it's when the baby is missing or has an undeveloped left side of the heart.

"We were given three choices: terminate the pregnancy; let Gabriela be born and let her pass away peacefully in the first few hours/days; or hope and risk with at least three open heart surgeries and a possible heart transplant that she can survive.

"Our hearts were broken, we came home and I spent days just crying. My husband had to push me to have some food and move around. We found comfort having snuggles with our other children, Gabriela's brothers Raivis, 10, and Oskars, eight.

"Gabriela was transferred to Alder Hey and had her first open heart surgery when she was only six days old. Her second open heart surgery was at five months old and she had a stent in her pulmonary arteries at nine months."

Gabriela's second surgery was an emergency after her oxygen dropped critically, so they spent her first Christmas at the hospital and her second open heart surgery was on December 29, which was 10 hours long and they 'nearly lost her' but she was saved thanks to the 'amazing' staff at Alder Hey.

Gabriela, 21 months old, hasn't yet started nursery as she's not stable and is on many heart medications throughout the day and night.

Evita added: "Everyone who knows Gabriela says she's the happiest girl we all have met. She never stops smiling, she loves everything and everyone around her. No matter where we go she will make someone's day more positive. We go to toddler playgroups where she will always show off with her giggles, so many people in the Concourse shopping centre know her. She loves waving to everyone and never stops smiling and blowing kisses. She clearly knows how hard her fight is - but she's so much stronger.

"CHDs are cruel. Most CHD children don't look sick, we can't tell them apart from other kids but their scars are real, their struggles are real, their hope to survive until next birthday is real. Research is at a really low level and we want to raise awareness for CHD.

"We're forever grateful not only for our hospital but for special charity organisations like Little Hearts Matter, Tiny Tickers, and the British Heart Foundation."

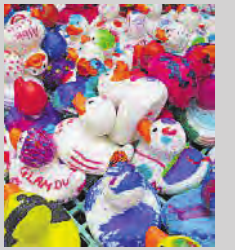

'Giggly' Gabriela is almost two years old now

No Fault Divorce

On 6th April 2022, the biggest change in divorce law for 50 years was ushered in – and for the first time ever in our country we now have true no fault divorce.

Whilst divorce is still going to be very much a legal process (for most couples only a divorce, or death can end a marriage, no matter how long you have been separated), now the only ground for a divorce will be that the marriage cannot be saved. Gone are the days of having to claim adultery or give lots of examples of unreasonable behaviour. Also gone is the ability of one party being able to stop the other from getting a divorce if they want one – you cannot now "defend" a divorce.

This is a change in the law for which family lawyers have campaigned for many years and is long overdue. Most family lawyers (and particularly those who are a member of an organisation called Resolution, which I am) have felt that given the reason for the breakdown of the marriage so very rarely has an effect on the outcome of associated financial applications or children act applications, that forcing clients to rely on one spouses "fault" to obtain a divorce, only served to increase antagonism between the parties.

Divorce is never going to be stress free. It is, after all, the unravelling of a family dynamic and the start of a new family relationship. There will usually still be issues concerning children and finances to resolve. However taking one cause for argument – the grounds for divorce – out of the equation can only be a good thing and one to be welcomed.

If these are issues that are affecting you, please contact me, Alexandra Kenyon at Dickinson Parker Hill.

We have been established over 200 years and if you would like to arrange an initial consultation then please call our offices on 01695 574201 or email ajkenyon@dphlaw.co.uk

150 vehicles seized as road offenders targeted by police

Report by Henry James

CLOSE to 150 vehicles have been seized as Lancashire Police crack down on people breaking the law on the county's roads.

Officers conducted traffic stops and vehicle checks, as well as using automatic number plate recognition systems to take dozens of cars, motorbikes and vans off the streets.

Between midnight on Friday (April 15) and Thursday, April 21, 146 vehicles have been seized by police for various offences, including:

- 83 vehicles under Section 99 Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 (Abandoned vehicles). This offence also covers the recovery of stolen vehicles.

- 52 vehicles under Section 165a of the Road Traffic Act 1988. This means an officer had reasonable grounds to believe the driver was uninsured, or not driving in accordance with their licence.

- Five vehicles under Section 59 of the Police Reform Act 2002. The officer has reasonable grounds to suspect the driver drove in an anti-social matter.

- Six vehicles related to ongoing criminal matters.

Overnight police became aware of a stolen Ford Fiesta in Southport, close to the border between Merseyside Police and Lancashire Police.

Police patrols spotted the vehicle and engaged in a pursuit which continued into Lancashire, with the car being driven at speeds of 125mph before being stung by officers.

Three people made off from the car and at this time remain outstanding. The car was reported as stolen from St Helens, with a battery drill and pliers, likely to be used for burglaries, recovered. The car keys were later found by officers searching the area, with the vehicle to be returned to its rightful owner.

Supt Melita Worswick, operations manager at Lancashire Police, said: "Over the last few weeks proactive work from officers has resulted in a number of police pursuits, resulting in stolen vehicles being returned to owners, offenders arrested and equipment potentially planned to be used to commit crime being seized."

"This has no doubt prevented a number of people from becoming a victim of crime."

Shops caught selling booze to underage person in police 'sting'

Two outlets fined after they sold alcohol to a volunteer cadet who was a 'test purchaser'

Report by Henry James

TWO shops in West Lancashire have been fined after selling alcohol to an underage police cadet who was a 'test purchaser.'

Police conducted a test purchasing operation in Skelmersdale and Ormskirk after reports of youths drinking and causing anti-social behaviour.

Test purchasing is permitted to police officers under the Licensing Act and allows them to send an underage volunteer police cadet into shops and bars to test their resilience around selling alcohol.

A spokesperson for the West Lancashire Neighbourhood Policing team said: "We carried this operation out due to recent reports of youths drinking and causing anti-social behaviour, as well as us being concerned for their safety."

Two shops sold alcohol to an underage test purchaser.

"Out of the four shops that we visited, two failed and sold alcohol to our underage test purchaser."

"This has led to the sellers being issued with a penalty notice for disorder which is £90."

"The premises and the person in charge of these stores will be re-visited by the police licensing team in due course to ensure that they are complying with the conditions of their premises license."

Councillors surgeries in Concourse resume

WEST Lancashire County Councillors, Terry Aldridge, John Fillis and Julie Gibson have announced their Saturday morning surgeries are taking place in Skelmersdale's Concourse Shopping Centre again. The surgeries are held every Saturday morning at the Concourse between 11am and noon in the Community Kiosk, on the lower level Concourse.

Merseyrail prepares to get its 15 minute train services back on track!

Report by Henry James

MERSEYRAIL will return to a 15-minute service across most of its network from Monday, May 2.

During the Covid-19 pandemic, Merseyrail services were reduced due to the impact the virus had on staffing numbers, however, with restrictions removed and more staff available, the rail operator will return to its 'pre-Covid frequency'.

The changes are as follows:

- Southport line – every 15 minutes from the start to the end of service

- All other lines (except Ellesmere Port) – every 15 minutes between approximately 7am and 7pm, with a 30-minute service operating outside of these hours

- A 30-minute service will operate on Sundays across all lines.

Andy Heath, managing director at Merseyrail, said: "I'm thrilled that we are able to announce a return to a 15-minute service across most of our network. We have worked hard throughout the Covid-19 pandemic to deliver the most reliable service possible to the people of the Liverpool City Region.

"Our customers have been incredibly patient during this time, and I thank them for that as we adapted to a very challenging set of circumstances because of the pandemic."

Full timetable information can be found at www.merseyrail.org/plan-your-journey/15-minute-timetable.aspx.

NHS 111 launches pilot text support service

A PILOT scheme offering quick and easy access to health advice via text messages is currently being trialled by NHS 111 in the North West.

Helpful care advice, which is usually read to the caller following an assessment by NHS 111, will now be sent in a text message after an initial call has been made.

It is designed to make it easier for people to digest and refer back to.

This will also reduce the length of the call, allowing NHS 111 to answer even more requests for urgent care advice from the public.

When people call 111, if they are considered suitable for the text service, the health advisor will check they have access to receive SMS text messages and give them the option to receive the appropriate care advice via text rather than listen to it being read aloud over the phone.

The Lawn

At this time of year the lawn may well have started to look a bit tatty, so give it a good mow now. A lawn rake is an essential tool to rake out all the dead grass and other post-winter debris that has gathered. That done, look it over for problems. Moss can be one, but you can rid yourself of that with a proprietary moss killer. Wear and tear will show up as areas of sparse or no grass at all. Top dress it with a spring lawn fertilizer mixed with sharp sand and fine compost. Tamp it down and sprinkle seed. Alternatively, you can cut out the affected areas and replace with turf. Again when the top, dead grass has been removed, rake the area to be treated. Cut the turf to fit the patch making it very slightly larger all round. Add a thin layer of sharp sand and lay the turf, rolling it firmly down, and water well. You may see worm casts begin to appear on the lawn in the morning.

Don't worry, just brush them into the grass with a stiff broom. Do be realistic about your lawn. Cutting it to bowling green length, half to three-quarters-of-an inch, will stress it if the traffic over it is too heavy; the grass is the wrong type for such a short length; or the rain is in short supply. Up to 2 inches is best for a normally used grassy area.

Landscape Gardening

Today, gardens are as much extensions of the living space as mere places to grow plants. As with all other parts of the home therefore, the garden is seen as representing the taste and decorative skills of the householders. Landscaping the garden therefore is now on a par with installing replacement windows, having a new kitchen fitted or bringing the bathroom into the realms of luxury. There really is nothing more attractive than a professionally landscaped garden. Landscape gardeners must know the job inside out. Every type of plant, weed, tree and shrub, and their growing habits. Then there is the matter of soil types, disease control, and feeding, all essential if the end result of their labours is to come up to all expectations. Finally is the matter of design. Essentially the work of a landscape gardener is a creative pursuit. Frequently it will be necessary to make something out of nothing and to make the whole an entirely practical proposition for the householder who has to live with it. So what do they want, these owners of beautiful gardens? For a start, they need to be able to use areas of the garden like room extensions - patios with barbeque facilities, arbours with training vines, trees for shade, ponds for fish and wildlife, grass for sitting on, and paths from where the subjects can be appreciated. If you have a garden that does no justice to your home, think about having it professionally landscaped. >

Gardening in the Summer Months

MAY

May is a month when plants start to grow in earnest. It can be an odd month however, when temperatures sometimes soar into the eighties during the day and then plummet down below freezing at night. Always remember to plant only on good days. Don't plant or sow into chilled soil and keep off the soil when it is waterlogged.

This is a good time to start tidying up early bulbs. Snip off the spent heads of those that don't need to be left to seed. Daffodils, especially should be dead-headed, snowdrops and crocus on the other hand should be allowed to seed to enable them to spread naturally. Tie back the foliage on the taller growing bulbs but avoid removing any of it until it starts to turn yellow. A good dressing of a nitrogen rich fertiliser at this point will help the plants produce good strong bulbs next year. Tulips really ought to be left in place until the greenery fades right away, however it is quite possible to transplant them to some unseen part of the garden where they can be left to fade away slowly in their own time.

Early on in the month, get your fruit trees and soft fruit bushes sprayed to kill off any lingering, over-wintering insect and fungoid pests. Depending on what you are growing, be selective in what you use. For those of you with a vegetable plot, there is more than enough to do this month, not least of which is the control of weeds. Your hoe should be your constant companion.

There are a number of comparatively safe weed killers on the market that will do the job for you, but you can't beat the good old-fashioned method of constant hoeing.

JUNE

June is undoubtedly the month when the garden comes into its own, when the colours and scents of summer simply take your breath away. It is also the month when everything goes mad and grows, including the weeds, and when there is a need for plenty of watering.

The lawn and hedges will be growing madly too. Mow at least once a week but remember, if the weather is on the dry side, cut no shorter than an inch. If the weather is exceptionally dry, leave the cuttings where they fall. They are an excellent mulch. Hedges will require careful trimming if you want to preserve shape and density. Again a trim every couple of weeks is best but, if you haven't the time, you can leave them three to four. Be careful about trimming flowering hedges. Leave them until the last blooms fade.

Watering is the big problem. Conserve water in every way you can, especially used domestic water. Mulch every inch of the garden to conserve what soil moisture there is, and water only later in the evening, so the water can seep well into the soil before the sun causes it to evaporate.

Now is a good time to make sure you have sufficient room for any bedding plants. Have a good supply of mulch ready. Water it well (late evening again). This is very important, young plants don't respond well to dry conditions if they have been growing in well ordered ones. Plant out as soon as possible, water in and mulch immediately, and you should have some pretty good results. Carry on dead-heading and clip off any seed pods that have escaped your notice, unless you want to collect some seed.

JULY

One of the problems summer weather brings in its wake is a tendency for tall and not-so-tall plants to bolt. One minute you've a well ordered garden with border plants arranged in descending order from the back, the next, and you have an untidy wilderness of giants bending under their own weight. Have plenty of stakes to hand so you can tie them up before they fall down. Bedding plants will benefit from a feed of weak liquid manure around the middle of the month. Hardy annuals will also need attention, water, feed and a brisk hoeing. If the weather is dry you will need to water the rock garden, vegetable garden and the lawn, and you should mulch like mad all over. Leave the grass cuttings on the lawn after mowing as this also prevents rapid evaporation of moisture.

You will have to clip and prune hedges and shrubs to keep them growing in the right way. This is the peak month for cuttings. Roses especially can be propagated this way and it really is the cheapest and easiest way of increasing your stock.

If you are thinking of laying a new lawn, the site may be cleared and levelled this month and left to 'air' ready for planting next season. On established lawns the work of mowing and watering must go on. In addition, pay particular attention to edges by trimming and securing where necessary. Edges that have fallen away may be cut back, built up again and prepared for re-turfing. Turf should normally be laid next month but the odd patch laid now and well watered in, should take and do well.

The garden in full swing in July should be a blaze of colour.

Outdoor Entertaining

Is spring time too early for a barbecue? Of course not! If the weather's fine and the sun is shining, then there's no better time to dust off the barbecue, get out that garden furniture and make the most of the lighter evenings and enjoy some outdoor dining with family and friends.

NEW TO BARBECUING?

Will you choose a charcoal barbecue for that delicious smoky taste or will you go for the gas option for total control and faster results? Don't forget, it's all in the preparation! Get marinating the day before and prepare everything to as advanced a state as you can. This will leave you with less washing-up and more time to set up drinks and ultimately enjoy those drinks.

CREATE THE PERFECT SETTING

You don't have to go overboard with decorations, but a few colourful additions will help create a party atmosphere. For the evening, turn on some outdoor fairy lights or light some big candles for that cosy feel. You want to arouse the senses of your guests and have them licking their lips in anticipation from the moment they arrive, so it's always a good idea to light the barbecue half an hour or so beforehand.

KEEP THE REFRESHMENTS FLOWING

No need to overcomplicate the drinks situation. Serve a white and red wine, beers, along with a non-alcoholic option. TIP: Instead of setting out bottles of soft drinks at your barbeque, place cans in a bucket with ice. That way any leftovers are completely reusable, and you won't be stuck with half-full bottles of flat drinks.

STAYING WARM WHEN THE SUN GOES DOWN

Invest in a chimenea or fire pit to ensure your guests stay warm after dark, they are also great for toasting marshmallows for the kids! Also place blankets or throws over the backs of chairs to help your guests keep the chill off their shoulders and keep the party going!

A GREAT GARDEN PARTY IS ABOUT MORE THAN JUST FOOD!

Treat your guests to some fun with a selection of entertaining games that will appeal to kids and grown-ups alike. And don't forget the music, create your very own party mix in advance to get your guests up and dancing!

Musical produced by local performer set to be shown at festival

Report by Henry James

A SHOW produced by an Ormskirk performer has been selected for this year's Little Liverpool Theatre Festival (LTF).

Bigger Than Broadway produced by Rebecca Casey, 34, is one of 12 shows to be presented at St Luke's Bombed Out Church in Liverpool city centre as part of the Little LTF, which runs from Tuesday, May 3 until Sunday, May 8.

Audiences will be able to see Bigger Than Broadway on Sunday, May 8 at 5pm.

Rebecca is from Ormskirk and trained locally at Southport College. She has more than 15 years professional experience mainly touring Europe in tribute and production shows.

In Bigger Than Broadway, performers Michelle Terri Almgill, Rebecca Casey, Jake Holroyd and Andrew Geater sing numbers from hit shows including Les Miserables, West Side Story, Phantom Of The Opera, We Will Rock You and The Greatest Showman.

Rebecca said: "I produced the show and was pleased when it was selected to appear at the festival, but surprised as well because I am not from Liverpool."

"It is a new show, which is going to be filmed. I have also invited agents along who may want to put it on at another venue."

"I am hoping the show can be staged at Ormskirk Civic Hall and in Southport with local people involved in it."

She added: "I performed at the theatre festival last year in the pantomime, Goldilocks and the fab 4."

Rebecca has been working professionally as a singer, actor and dancer since 18, and has performed abroad. She has also been regularly performing in Blackpool.

During the festival, Rebecca will be starring in another show called 'It Must Be Love' - a romantic comedy which can be seen on Friday, May 6 at 6.30pm. Rebecca will play the lead female role of Pamela.

Rebecca was a member of Ormskirk Pleasure Folk from the ages of 4-16. She has also been in shows for Southport Operatic, SONG and Birkdale Orpheus, having trained at West Lancs Performing Arts.

Skem set for play-off clash in Gloucestershire

McNally's side prepare for 154 mile trip to Cinderford Town for 'winner takes all' match

SKELMERSDALE'S promotion dream could become a reality this Saturday when they travel to Gloucestershire to take on Cinderford Town in a mouthwatering play-off clash, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

After an exhilarating season, which saw Skem clinch the all important second place on the last day of the season, Paul McNally's side will travel to the picturesque town in the Forest of Dean for the one leg encounter.

Skelmersdale are in Step 5 of the non league football pyramid in the North West Counties League Premier Division and are trying to win promotion to Step 4.

Step 4 is the Northern Premier League Division One West, a level they were relegated from a couple of years ago.

Because they finished second in the NWC Premier this season, they must go to a play-off match to achieve this aim and join Macclesfield in winning promotion.

The Football Association has decided that the play-offs must be decided on a national basis because there are 16 leagues nationally in Step 5.

Cinderford Town have finished third from bottom of the Southern League Division One South and in order to avoid relegation from Step 4 to Step 5, they must beat Skem.

The game will be a 3pm kick off at Cinderford's Edge Hills Road ground and if required will go to extra-time and if further necessary penalties.

Cinderford Town is a club based 154 miles away so the game creates a huge logistical task for Skem, including a drive of at least three or four hours.

Cinderford finished the season with 31 points from 36 games, winning eight drawing seven and losing 21. They will be defending a membership of the Southern League going back 21 years.

So Skelmersdale face no easy task against a team that will be determined to retain their status.

Skem will be fairly well supported on Saturday and are running a supporters coach on the day.

Because the hosts play in black & white Skelmersdale will be able to play in their traditional all blue kit.

Saturday won't be Skelmersdale's last game of the season as they face a Macron Cup quarter-final tie on Monday, May 2 away to Macclesfield for a 3pm kick off.

This was originally due to the be played at the JMO Sports Park but has been switched to Cheshire because of work taking place at Skem's ground.

If Skelmersdale win at Macclesfield they will face a trip to either Charnock Richard or Padiham in the semi-final.

Ormskirk put in a spin by Ruikar in opening game defeat to Wallasey ORMSKIRK were all out for 137 to lose their opening Liverpool Competition Premier League fixture of the season to Wallasey by 46 runs.

Tom Hartley took four wickets and Zahir Shehzad three as Wallasey put on a total of 183 all out in 60.5 overs.

In reply Ormskirk opener Robert Rankin scored 59 but no one else put on a substantial score as they were dismissed for 137 in 42.5 overs with left arm spinner Sumit Ruikar taking seven wickets.

Unbeaten centuries by opener JJ Fielding (135) and number three Jonathan Whitehead (111) saw Southport and Birkdale home to a nine wicket victory in their match against Rainhill.

In another high scoring game Formby enjoyed a comfortable eight wicket victory over Orrell Red Triangle despite the opposition having posted an imposing total of 283-3 declared in 51 overs.

Northern got their season off to a winning start beating Leigh by five wickets.

Tomas Sephton took three wickets as Leigh were dismissed for 153 in 47 overs.

Andrew Clarke then carried his bat as Northern reached their target in the 41st over.

Elsewhere in the Premier League, Newton-le-Willows beat Birkenhead Park, while Wigan drew with New Brighton.

In the First Division Bootle lost to Caldy by seven wickets. Joe Nagle top scored with 37 as Bootle posted a total of 176 all out in 49.2 overs. Caldy passed the target in the 30th over.

Registered Care Manager

Full time (37.5 hours pw)
Salary: £32,000 - £34,000 pa, depending upon experience
St Vincent's Care Home, Southport PR9

St Vincent's is a small, friendly residential care home, with a dedicated staff team and a wonderful sense of community. We are rated 'good' by the CQC.

As Registered Manager you will be responsible for the operational day-to-day management of St Vincent's, ensuring the provision of a high quality elderly care service enabling individual needs and organisational priorities to be met in accordance with relevant legislation. You will provide effective leadership, guidance and professional direction to the whole team and possess a thorough understanding of the CQC requirements.

We are keen to recruit someone who is dedicated, enthusiastic, compassionate, respectful and sympathetic to the Christian ethos and values. You must hold an NVQ4 Health and Social Care (or equivalent) and an appropriate Management qualification, with elderly residential care leadership experience.

WE OFFER: 33 days annual leave (including bank holidays); pension scheme; OH support.

St Vincent's is run by the Daughters of Charity of St Vincent de Paul. We employ people of all faiths and non, but it is essential that the post-holder be committed to learning about, acting in accordance with, and further promoting the Vincentian values which underpin all aspects of our work.

To apply, please complete an application form available on our website: www.daughtersofcharityrosalierendu.org (News & Events) and email it to us at: recruitment@dcmillhill.org by the closing date.

Alternatively, you can email to request for an application pack using the same email address above.

Closing date: 11 May 2022

Appointment subject to satisfactory enhanced DBS check, references & proof of right to work in the UK.

Champion MOTORS

No distractions please – I'm driving!

The new 7-Series will be great to drive - and be driven in

SO YOU'RE doing 70mph down the M57 – but seeing as you're here and I know you (probably) love the Bond films, let's talk Easter eggs in No Time To Die.

Did you spot the portraits on the wall during M's briefing to 007? They're of Judi Dench and Robert Brown, who played the Ms going all the way back to the early Eighties. The cigar Bond picks up for a doomed Felix Leiter in Cuba is a Delatado, exactly the same variety that Britain's not-so-secret agent smoked in Die Another Day, and the Chevrolet used in the fight scene a few minutes earlier is of the same variety used in Dr No. But my own personal favourite is when Daniel Craig's Bond topples a precarious Land Rover Defender to take out one of the bad guys – a brilliantly done reference to a very similar moment in For Your Eyes Only.

Oh, did you spot the lorry pulling out in front? Top marks if you did, of course, but I'd understand if what was going through your mind was whether the late Sir Roger Moore kicking an assassin's Mercedes off a cliff was one of his more cold-blooded killings. That's the problem with being on the road – it's all those pesky things that have the power to distract you, and why the government recently decided to tighten up the rules over what you can do with a mobile phone when driving. Calling people while holding one has been illegal since 2003, but now playing games, WhatsApping your mates and taking pictures will get you a stern ticking off too.

Which is why, conversely, the Department for Transport's proposals to make it easier for you to watch telly on the move in self-driving cars don't sit quite right. The key words there are "at the moment" because a genuinely self-driving car – as in one you can jump into outside your house, curl up in the back for four hours and then wake up in Glasgow or Bristol would be fine.

But by the government's own reckoning there are five different levels of increasingly autonomous driving and at the moment even the very best ones are only at level two. In other words, if things get really sticky they'll expect you to be to be ready to step in and save the day. That's all good if you've been attentively watching the traffic in front, but if you're halfway through Bridgerton, are you really going to be ready to intervene in an instant? Honestly?

BMW's new 7-Series, ironically, was launched on exactly the same day as the DfT unveiled its latest plans. While it has a very clever in-car telly and some of the best self-driving kit on the planet right now, not once has BMW suggested you can replace one with the other. Nor has it parodied its old Eighties ad slogan and billed it as The Ultimate Self-Driving Machine. Even Tesla's Autopilot, for all the connotations that name suggests, isn't completely there yet.

There will, I reckon, be a point in the not-too-distant future where you can jump into a mid-range hatchback, punch in the postcode for your destination and catch up with Love Island the entire way there, and you genuinely won't ever need to take your eyes off the cast.

But until that happens I'll stick to the other thing BMW's 7-Series has traditionally been brilliant at; being great to drive. Just try not to distract me with Bond movie talk, please.

David Simister, Editor - Classic Car Weekly

Citroën's confirmed that it'll stop making the Grand C4 SpaceTourer in July. It means that for the first time in more than 30 years the French manufacturer won't have an MPV in its range, although the e-Berlingo and e-SpaceTourer – both of which are derived from the company's vans – will stay on sale for those looking for load-luggers. Citroën said that changing tastes in the car market, and the popularity of its crossovers, prompted it to pull the plug.

Citroën is canning its C4 SpaceTourer in July

The INEOS Grenadier goes on sale here next month

INEOS has confirmed that you'll be able to buy its new Grenadier – a tough off-roader in the vein of Land Rover's old Defenders – from two sites in the North West when it goes on sale next month. It'll be available from the Bowker dealership in the Ribble Valley and at Halliwell Jones in Chester, with prices and UK technical specifications due to be confirmed in the next few weeks. Go www.ineosgrenadier.com if you want to find out more about this new 4x4.
